On May 8, 2019, Sachem Head Capital Management LP and certain affiliates issued the following press release and public letter to the shareholders of Eagle Materials Inc.:

Sachem Head Nominates Two Highly Qualified Candidates to Eagle Materials Board

Believes its Candidates – Wendy Lane and Scott Ferguson – Would Invigorate Strategic Review Process with Fresh Thinking and Analysis as Well as Strong Shareholder Alignment

Looks Forward to Engaging with Fellow Eagle Shareholders and Ultimately Unlocking True Value of Company's Attractive Assets

NEW YORK – May 8, 2019 – Sachem Head Capital Management LP (“Sachem Head”), a beneficial owner of approximately 9% of the outstanding common stock of Eagle Materials Inc. (NYSE: EXP) (“Eagle” or the “Company”), today announced that it has nominated two highly qualified candidates – Wendy Lane and Scott Ferguson – for election to the Eagle Board of Directors at the Company's 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders.

Sachem Head sent the following public letter to the Company's shareholders in connection with its nominations:

Dear Fellow Eagle Shareholders:

Sachem Head has nominated two highly qualified directors – Wendy Lane and Scott Ferguson – for election to the Eagle Board of Directors (the “Board”). We have also given notice that we intend propose a non-binding resolution at the 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders (the “Annual Meeting”) to declassify the Company's Board. Our proposals follow several weeks of engagement with the Eagle management team and its newly appointed Chairman, Mike Nicolais.

On April 4, 2019, following Sachem Head's initial filing of a Schedule 13D on March 28, 2019, we presented Eagle's management with a detailed analysis of potential opportunities available to the Company, which precipitated the Company's April 18, 2019 announcement that it would conduct a strategic review.<sup>1</sup> Since that announcement, Sachem Head has tried to work collaboratively with the Board to add relevant experience and shareholder alignment to assist in the review. Unfortunately, thus far the Company has rejected Sachem Head's request to add even a single new director to its Board.

As we have discussed with the Company, we believe that Eagle's core cement and wallboard businesses are well-run, valuable assets that are well positioned within their respective industries. Eagle's stock price, however, does not reflect the true value of these businesses. While both of these assets have industry-leading margins and generate significant cash flow, the diversion of the Company's resources and cash flow to fund Eagle's expansion into Oil & Gas Proppants has resulted in substantial underperformance in relation to peers. Given the lack of synergies among Eagle's assets, we believe that the public markets have applied a discount to the Company's trading price. In our view, this discount can be eliminated by separating these respective businesses into more focused entities. Given their unique competitive positions, we believe that both the cement and wallboard businesses may have a range of attractive strategic alternatives that could provide more value to shareholders than a simple separation of these assets.

While we are encouraged by the Company's announcement of a strategic review, the fact remains that the Company, by its own admission, has undertaken similar reviews in the past and has never taken action to unlock value. Without changes in the Company's boardroom, there can be no assurances that this time will be different. We particularly note that this review has apparently been initiated in reaction to shareholder pressure (our 13D filing and the subsequent overwhelming support from other shareholders) as opposed to stemming from an initiative of management and the Board to independently pursue these alternatives.

We have not proposed a simple sale of the Company (which is a possible outcome) but instead a full strategic review which will require the Board to assess complex multivariate alternatives, and understand the financial, legal, and value nuances of each outcome. We have done significant work on these topics, and our strong belief is that having a shareholder in the room with the analytical capacity and alignment to consider these alternatives would help ensure the optimal outcome. Furthermore, conflicts of interest between various constituents often exist in these situations. Shareholder representation can help mitigate these issues should they arise.

We believe the Company's shareholders deserve new voices in the boardroom who are not burdened by yesterday's decisions, and we are troubled by the Board's reluctance to add even just one Sachem Head nominee to its ranks. Given that our last request for a single representative is roughly proportional to our ownership of Eagle, and that one director would not control any specific outcome, it is unclear what the Board fears.

We believe that our nominees will bring sorely needed skills, fresh thinking and strong shareholder alignment to the Company's boardroom. We look forward to discussing our nominees and ideas further with our fellow shareholders soon.

Best regards,

Scott Ferguson
